A Note To Parents

You have given your child the greatest gift when you made the decision to send them to sleep away camp. You are allowing your child to experience the pride of feeling independent, the challenges to step outside their comfort zone, the ability to strengthen their coping skills and master the art of cooperation. All this happening without you, their parents near. In the midst of going to activities, making new friends, color war etc, these fundamental life skills are happening.

We recognize the responsibility we have and will provide your child with the best and most nurturing care, in order to help your child grow to their best potential.

If this is your child's first summer with us or seventh, the opportunity for growth is the same. Rest assured your child will have fun, make new friends and try new things but the true benefit will be the profound personal growth that occurs and the confidence they build as they navigate through different and new experiences.

As they get on that bus on June 25th and head to their summer home, please keep these words in mind:

LET THEM GO AND WATCH THEM GROW!!!!
